Head of Department
Was With Institute
Since Its Inception

By NANCY MARCUS
Mr. H. S. (Peter) Hayden, F.R.P.S., who has been in charge of the Photographic Department of the Montreal Neurological Institute since its inception in 1936, under the directorship of Dr. Wilder C. Penfield, has resigned his position to devote his energies to the private practice of Medical Photography in Montreal.

Born in London, England, Mr. Hayden began his photographic career with a five year apprenticeship in the Amalgamated Press. He later continued his studies in various technical schools in England, winning many scholarships and receiving the Gold Medal of the City and Guilds of London. In 1933, at the request of Dr. Penfield, Mr. Hayden came to McGill University for the purpose of developing new methods of photographing surgical procedure.

Two years later he was awarded the Fellowship, highest degree of the Royal Photographic Society of Great Britain, for a thesis describing his new technique for obtaining clear, full scale photographs of surgical operations. This method is based upon a surface reflecting mirror in the operating room, and a long focus telephoto lens and camera outside of the sterile field. A lever from the mirror to the glassed-in cubicle from which the photographs are taken makes it

Peace Envisioned Through Goodwill

Dr. Butler Believes
International Police
Should Enforce It

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, now President Emeritus of Columbia University, told the Associated Press in an interview on Monday that he looks forward to continued service in the two fields that are closest to his heart—education and world peace. Having completed, on October 1, forty-four years as head of the world's largest institute of learning, Dr. Butler will still participate in the development of Columbia, and will also carry on as president of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

Dr. Butler spoke with assurance on world affairs, and social and economic problems of the times. He believes that it will take the combined strength of the English-speaking peoples and Russia to enforce a peace which can only be made durable "by consent and good will."

He agrees that a permanent international police force should be organized to enforce peace, and optimistically predicts that within "a generation or two" the world will have settled down, and that enforcement of world peace will be as simple as law enforcement in Canada or the United States.

Queens' Registration Reaches Record High

Kingston, Oct. 9. — (CUP) — 1945 is the most outstanding year in the history of registration at Queen's University. To date 2,160 have registered and it is reported by Miss J. Joyce, the Registrar, that by Oct. 13, last day of registration, this total may reach 2,200. This represents a substantial increase over last year's total of 1,504.

A 100 per cent. increase has been observed in the Arts Faculty. Enrollment of 800 veterans has increased the student body by approximately 50 per cent. and it is expected that by Oct. 13 this will have risen to 900. Of the 60 accepted into First Year Medicine, 51 are veterans.

Royal Military College, accommodating 100 ex-servicemen, is quartered in H.M.S. Stone Frigate and the Aluminum Co. is housing 66 men. Roselawn, former C.W.A.C. Barracks, provides lodging for 43 girls.

Special city buses provide transportation to the Aluminum Plant and to the Royal Military College. Meals are provided morning and evening at the Royal Military College and a new cafeteria has been opened up in the basement of Grant Hall for both men and women.

Library Lectures Start This Week

Students Advised
To Register Now
At Redpath

A series of lectures to be given by members of the Library staff every day throughout the month of October will start this week in Redpath Library. The lectures will take place in the Library every afternoon at 4 o'clock and will cover many phases of library operation.

Students wishing to take the course, which consists of one lecture, are asked to make appointments at the Library desk. Registration for the remainder of this week has been completely filled up but anyone wishing to hear the lecture will have ample opportunity to do so during the remaining weeks of October. The capacity for each class is twenty.

The purpose of the lectures is to inform students about such technicalities as how to borrow books, what reserve books are, why some are placed on reserve, the book collections in the Library, as well as to save time for the Library staff

Geographer Here For Two Lectures At Moyse Hall

Dr. H. J. Fleure, F.R.S.,
Emphasizes Need
For Racial Harmony

Dr. H. J. Fleure, F.R.S., Emeritus Professor of Geography, Manchester University, who arrived at McGill today, will deliver two public lectures in Moyse Hall on Thursday and Friday evenings at 8.15 on the subjects "Race and Language Among European Peoples" and "Geographical Foundation of European Nationalism." These lectures are to be given under the auspices of the new Geography Department.

In an interview today, the eminent British geographer praised McGill for the establishment of teaching in geography, pointing out that the essence of the application of modern geography was to try to teach people how to live in order to get rid of crowd psychology.

"The world is one physically, but not in harmony socially or spiritually," continued Dr. Fleure. "The physical millennium of the world is here, he went on, but the evils of crowd psychology such as Nazism in Germany, will likely postpone the real millennium for many thousands of years. Evolution, Dr. Fleure stated, which has been credited with many things, will not result in a world civilization peopled by humans of one color. "Early man was probably brown in color," he went on. "The processes of evolution and adaptation resulted in varying hues... evolution seldom goes into reverse, so

U.S. Patent System Protects Industry

Gary, Indiana, Oct. 10. — National Patent Council urges the continuation of the established Patent System in the United States, it was announced today by John W. Anderson, leader of the movement.

The council is a new organization of smaller manufacturers representing 28 classes of American industries.

Critics of the Patent System, in attempting to deny the right of the inventor to his own creation, are encouraging monopoly in industry, Mr. Anderson contends. Under the Patent System, "the smaller manufacturer can continue to invade successfully... the markets of entrenched competitors."

"Thus the system functions as the indispensable stimulant to that competitive enterprise upon which the continued progress and security of America depends."

Cheaper Housing Available For 34 Veterans Presently

A number of veterans, who have found it difficult to live within the boundaries of the maintenance grant issued by the government for their benefit, will now be able to occupy a residence which will be run on a strictly non-profit basis. The object is to provide these veterans with low-cost room and board. For this purpose, arrangements have been made with McGill University to rent the building at 3619 University St., which is situated across from the Medical Building. At present, it is planned to house 34 students.

Applicants will be received by the members of the Veterans' Housing Committee on Friday, from 7 p.m. on, at 3619 University St. Veterans will have a priority over all other students.

This establishment will be run as a rooming-house only, until Nov. 1. From this date onward, board will also be offered, since it has been arranged to procure a cook and utensils at this time.

The room-rental is, at present, fixed at $12 per month. Room and board is now designated to be $35 per month. Accepted applicants will be required to make a deposit of $10. This sum will be used to provide working capital for initial operations, and is repayable during the second term. Meals for these veterans will also be obtainable at Beatty Hall, at the rate of $1.20 a day.

This information was made official by the Veterans' Housing Committee at a meeting held yesterday in the Music Room of the McGill Union.

This committee was formed on Wednesday, Oct. 3, as a subsidiary of the McGill Veterans' Society, in order to investigate the possibilities of establishing a rooming-house for those veterans who were either unable to obtain rooms, or who were forced to take rooms which are too expensive.

The Veterans' Housing Committee consists of Bob Renwick, chairman; Len Starkey, Ernie Temple, Bill Ornstein, and Ken Dervin.

Syracuse University Enrolment Up a Third

Syracuse, N.Y., Oct. 9.—A recent release from University of Syracuse's Registrar Keith J. Kennedy showed a 33 per cent. gain in student enrollment this year. Final registration statistics reveal that with an enrollment of 5,716, compared with 4,391 in 1944, the pre-war registration of 6,000 will be equalled, if the trend continues.

There is an increase of 724 men over last year's enrollment. The College of Liberal Arts Leads in number of students their enrollment being 2,081; in second place is College of Business Administration with 950; third, College of Fine Arts, 835; then College of Home Economics, School of Nursing, and College of Applied Science.

New Cheerleaders Wanted at Once

Old McGill Spirit
To Be Revived
At Last

Along with the return of inter-collegiate football will come the revival of the spirit of Old McGill, with the lustily cheering throngs of students that typified college rugby games of yesteryear. The glory of the Red and White will resound from every corner of the campus and stadium. Rather than have a few feeble attempts at a yell here and there as has been the custom during wartime, a new cheerleaders' corps has been set up for the purpose of organizing these sporadic outbursts into a mighty volume of noise.

It is hoped that in the very near future, the corps will have attained the place in campus society which is enjoyed by similar bodies in colleges throughout the United States. To use your vocal chords is a very simple matter but to lead others in the cheering is another thing. The call is out now for men at the University, who have a bit of spark and live-wireness in them, to join together in a band that will bring the Old McGill and Yea Team back as a natural part of campus life.

In preparation for next Tuesday's big game, all those who are interested in becoming a member of the new team of Rahl! Rahl! boys are invited to attend an organization meeting in the Ballroom of the McGill Union at 5:00 p.m. tonight or call Ray Sheperd at EL. 8087.

Students Protest Against Rentals

Vancouver, October 9.—(CUP)—Students of the University of British Columbia voiced protest here today against high rentals for their living quarters, laying their complaints before the official housing registry.

Average prices charged for room, including breakfast and dinner, range from $37 to $40 and $20 for board alone.

There are, however, landlords who take advantage of students' inability to secure lodgings. For example, one married ex-serviceman, with one child, was being charged $65 a month for two basement rooms, without board. Another student complained that his meals proved so inadequate that he was forced to buy them elsewhere.

Authorities stated that it is impossible to set a price ceiling since all rooms have different values.

To Replace Now Defunct War Council

Executive Elected;
Committees Set-up;
Open to All Students

By ALLAN KNIGHT

A campus organization "to promote activities of interest to the campus as a whole and in particular to rehabilitate campus life and spirit to the pre-war standard" was given its official start at a meeting of student leaders last night with the name of the Red and White Society.

Sponsored by the Students' Executive Council, and designed in part to take the place of the now-defunct War Council, the Society will give any interested undergraduate the opportunity of taking part in organizing student activities and "of working to advance the interest of student life at Old McGill."

At the meeting of the Steering Committee, held last night, separate committees to set up a constitution, to provide for a budget and to look after the printing of membership cards were set up. An organizing executive was elected and consists of Dick Balfour, chairman; Merelle Cayford, vice-chairman; Alan Nowers, treasurer; and George Schneider, secretary.

It is planned by the Steering Committee to have the membership cards distributed Friday at all the major campus buildings by members of the Red Wing Society, while arrangements will be made to accommodate Dawson students.

OPEN TO ALL STUDENTS

The organizers of the Red and White Society wish to lay emphasis on the fact that every McGill student can be a member and that there are no fees involved. The hope is that every student, and especially veterans who have had executive experience, will take advantage of the opportunity to boost campus spirit and interest in things social and athletic.

As outlined in the basic plan, the Society will organize football rallies and tea dances, basketball festivals and other social appendages to McGill's Intercollegiate athletic program.

MONDAY MEETING

A meeting of all members of the Red and White will be called for Monday afternoon to plan a rally cheerleading and ushering for the big football game, Tuesday evening at the Stadium when the McGill team faces its baptism of fire against the Montreal Rugby Football Club, popularly known as the Hornets.

At the meeting on Monday, it is hoped that the members will be divided into teams of some 10 or 20 depending on the response. Each team will have its captain, elected

MASS ELECTION MEETING AT DAWSON 7 P.M. TODAY

Ed-in-Chief Gives Journalism Lecture

"A newspaper serves the public, and is published with a constant eye on the reader's demands, while still keeping its individuality," stated the Editor-in-Chief of the McGill Daily yesterday afternoon, at the first lecture on Journalism given this session. Speaking to an assembly of some 120 new reporters in the Union Ballroom, he discussed "The Psychology of the Reader" and "The News Story, Lead and Body." The same lecture was given to a group of about 15 at Dawson College last evening.

Candidates to Present Platforms; R. J. Balfour to Act as Chairman

A mass meeting will be held in the Recreation Theatre Hall of Dawson College today at 7.00 p.m. for the purpose of presenting the platforms of the 6 candidates in the elections taking place Friday October 12 between 9.00 a.m. and 2.30 p.m.

Running for President of the Dawson College Student Group are J. Cadloff, and C. G. Thompson. Edward de Jean and James Spencer have been nominated for the position of President of 1st year Engineering and contesting for the position of President of 1st year Science are Leo Kolber and Ward A. Smyth. According to McGill practice each candidate may be introduced by a sponsor who will summarize the contestants activities and qualifications for the position.

Richard J. Balfour, President of the McGill Student Society will be in the chair and a number of the McGill Student Executive Council will attend the meeting.

Legation Counsellor Addresses U. of T.

Toronto, Oct. 9. — (CUP) — Dr. Costi Zurayk, counsellor of the Syrian Legation in Washington, and spokesman at a University College' lecture in Toronto on Thursday morning, defined the Arab problem as one that faces the whole world. "Whether world affairs are to be controlled by power politics or by a world organization based on rational thinking" was the way he saw the problem.

President, Dawson College Student Group

J. A. CADLOFF

Self-government at Dawson assumes the utmost importance because of the particular nature of our campus. We are a resident college, and the daily problems of Dawson students can best be solved by the democratic processes instituted by the students themselves. We are also part of the Faculties of Engineering and Arts and Science of McGill, and must therefore maintain the closest co-operation with the students on the parent campus.

In my opinion student needs, at Dawson can be listed as relating to Education, Housing, Recreation, Health Service, and Transportation. As candidate for President of the College Group, I consider the following some of the more pressing student problems:

EDUCATION

1) Dawson College students should be kept informed by the university authorities regarding plans and changes in plans for expansion of university facilities. This would enable students to chart their future academic careers with greater security and a minimum of hardship.

2) Study Rooms. These rooms should be set up immediately, be comfortably furnished, and be sufficient

C. G. THOMPSON

Having been nominated as candidate for the office of President of the Dawson College Group, I find there are many problems to be solved in conducting our student affairs. If elected, my first duty will be to hold discussion groups to determine the desires of the student body in organizing a suitable students' council, so that each member of Dawson College may have the fairest representation possible.

Today being October 10th, we are reminded of our monetary obligations for board and lodging. It appears that the present rates impose excessive financial strain on us, the students in residence. I propose to bring this matter to the attention of the authorities after further discussion with the students' council to be elected.

We, at Dawson College, have many facilities which may be used to our advantage. The most outstanding of these is the excellent athletic equipment at our disposal. Therefore an athletic convener should be elected and supported by a strong committee. This should consist of one elected representative from each group in each of our faculties. The members of this committee would work in close co-operation

President, 1st Year Engineering

EDWARD DE JEAN

I should like to thank those students who were kind enough to nominate me as a candidate for the position of President of First Year Engineering. I will not promise Utopia, but pledge rather every energy of which I am capable in carrying out the will of those whom I will represent. There are many problems facing first year Engineers now and undoubtedly others will arise. Some of these are already pressing; others will make themselves felt in the near future. The following are, in my opinion, some of the more important problems which will demand the attention of the President of First Year, whoever he may be, and of all other First Year students:

1. In view of the fact that approximately 800 students at Dawson College, who have paid Student Undergraduate fees, are separated from the McGill Campus, there should be a representative on the Students Executive Council.

For these reasons also the role of the First Year representative on the Executive of the Engineering Undergraduate Society is made more vital and important. We must see to it that this representation is actively maintained.

2. Students should be informed

JAMES SPENCER

First of all, I would like to express thanks to those who have supported my nomination. It is an honour to have a chance to help represent first year engineering. Dawson College is so new that I find it difficult to present a concrete platform. At present, athletics have not yet been organized. Those who are elected to the three positions at Dawson College will have this responsibility. It will be their job to bridge the gap between the student body and the faculty.

I feel positively that the professors are ready to help us in every way that they can. There are probably matters which they wish to discuss with us. Dawson College is such a unique enterprise, that I feel sure that many situations have arisen and will continue to arise which never existed in Montreal. For this reason I hesitate to number items and call them my platforms.

Our class is unique in the history of McGill. The majority consists of veterans. It is too bad that their first year will not be spent at McGill. Dawson College has yet to form her traditions. It will be our class who will form them.

Last year, I had the pleasure of

It is indeed unfortunate that the elections at Dawson have had to be hurriedly thus. In a college election, the prime necessities are to know and befriend one another and to have a keen spirit of rivalry. However, for these things to prevail time is of the essence, but the time we've lived together was entirely insufficient to get acquainted with each other and so the electors will be, for the most part dependent on placing their opinions according to the speeches presented by various candidates.

So far Dawson has been treated as a step-child to McGill even on a lower plane than Macdonald College. If and when a competent administration is elected they will see to it that Dawson College is not worked dependent on McGill but in co-ordination with it. If the electors decide to put me on the council I will, without the slightest hesitancy comply with this prevailing wish of the students and carry it out.

As for immediate improvements I can list a few and promise, if elected, to carry them out. There is a decided need for more recreational facilities such as are provided in the McGill Union, however, the type of facilities wanted

"I would like to thank those who have nominated me and in so doing expressed their belief that I have the necessary qualifications for this position."

"We students who are at Dawson must not lose sight of the fact that we are a part of McGill; its traditions and its activities. We must realize, though, that we are a unit situated some distance away from McGill. This fact makes it clear that we must be a self-governing unit, with a students' executive of our own. At the same time, we must have a representative on the McGill Students' Council, in order to keep us in close contact with the parent body."

"Dawson College is a resident college, which means that we have more problems than normally. We have greater need for recreation and sports than usual. We have excellent facilities here. Let us then make use of them. Committees must be formed to organize and run inter-class and inter-campus sports. Sports have always been a very important part of campus life, and a such, must take its place at Dawson."

"As I have said, we are a resident college, and are living a life where the community spirit must prevail. For this reason I advocate that house committees be formed

A Democratic Function

Elections for the positions of President of the Dawson College Student Group of the McGill Students' Society, and Presidents of First Year Engineering and of First Year Science will be held on the Dawson College campus this Friday. In preparation for this, election platforms will be presented by the nominees for these positions at Dawson College tonight.

The presentation of election platforms by the nominees is an institution established at McGill to enable students who do not know the candidates to hear and see these men for themselves in order that they may better judge the men for whom they will vote.

Students at Dawson have had very little time to acquaint themselves with more people than their immediate neighbours, and it is in an attempt to solve this difficulty that a special effort is being made on the part of the Students' Executive Council of McGill to introduce the students to the men from whom they will elect their representatives. If the men who are finally elected are not truly representative of the Dawson group, the fault will lie with those students who have not been interested enough to attend this meeting.

Election speeches are a traditional democratic function established to overcome the natural limitations of man's association with those who are nominated to positions. It is a function that operates in every democratic country, as well as on our campus. Just as in nation-wide elections, where it is impossible for every member of the country to be personally acquainted with those nominated for the government of the country, election speeches and campaigns are held that the elector may learn for himself which man best represents his own ideals and aims, so in our college elections. And even as in the national elections no man may represent all the beliefs of a specific citizen, still, by examining the platform of each candidate, he can choose the man who most closely follows those beliefs; so on the Dawson campus tonight the students may select for themselves the men who will represent their aims for the government of Dawson College.

It is your opportunity to exercise a democratic right—use it!

What Do You Think?

We note with surprise, that The Daily's "Political Comment" column has only been used by students on one occasion up to this morning. Perhaps a short explanation of the function and purpose of this column is in order. The "Political Comment" column is provided on the editorial or Feature page of The Daily for the discussion of frankly political subjects, and is entirely at the disposal of any student. All articles submitted for this column are impartially published, provided they are addressed to the Editor of The Daily who, according to The Daily's constitution has direct jurisdiction over it and the Letter Forum. Contributions should be signed by the author, and bear the name of his faculty and year; if the writer desires anonymity, it will be strictly adhered to. Musical Musings

by William A. Macdonald, Arts II

"Edward Kennedy Duke Ellington"

One of the most encouraging signs in a long time to the student and fan of jazz-music (we'll try to define that for you some day) has been the Saturday afternoon broadcasts of Duke Ellington's music over the ABC in conjunction with their current war loan drive in the United States. To Ellington fans like ourselves, these programs during the last four months have been a refreshing novelty over the usually jazz-less airways. Our only regret is the large amount of vocals, which, although probably a necessity for that kind of program, do not give a truly typical picture of the band as they would be when they are playing on the bandstand.

Duke Ellington undoubtedly has the finest band playing in the popular (as opposed to the classical) field to-day. No white orchestra, save possibly the upsurging Herman Herd can even compare with the inimitable Duke. Since the great Miller band of pre-Pearl Harbour days, the Duke has been the acknowledged leader in the field. Had it not been for the strong colour bias, which, despite the war, and the equal sacrifice made by the American Negro in the present conflict, prevailed to such a large extent in non-musical circles in a supposedly democratic United States, the recognition due him would have come earlier, and spread beyond the few musicians and jazz fans who recognized in this leader-composer-pianist, a dominating personality upon the American musical scene.

The Ellington band is "unquestionably the most marvellous jazz has known." Duke Ellington, himself, is far and away the greatest creative writer in jazz to-day, or of any day. He ranks with Louis Armstrong, attested by many (Bix Beiderbecke fans dissenting) to be the greatest trumpeter of all, as one of the "greatest musical personalities of jazz." As a pianist, he has never possessed the technique or versatility of an Art Tatum or an Earl Hines. His, rather, is a talent fitted for expression by a whole orchestra, and arranged with the abilities of the individual musicians in view.

There are those who may wish to point out to us in an ominous manner that Paul Whiteman has long been known as the "King of Jazz," and the "Father of Modern American Music." As to the first, both Paul Whiteman and ourselves would be glad to see him relieved of this moniker. The latter, however, is open to dispute on the grounds of just what modern American music is. We do not wish to detract from the greatness of his band, nor from the magnitude of his contribution to the musical world. Both are beyond question. What we would like to do, is to point out that it is only on a very rare occasion that the Whiteman band has ever played true jazz. That was in the days of the late 1920's when such jazz greats as trumpeter Bix Beiderbecke and trombonist Jack Teagarden were playing with him for a short while.

Benny Goodman fans may be equally desirous of pointing out to us that their idol has long been known as the "King of Swing." That Benny Goodman is one of the greatest white personalities in jazz to-day, and has been for the last ten years, no one will deny. No clarinetist to-day possesses the facility or spontaneous technique which he does; and few clarinetists play with more feeling than he does, when he is really in the mood. (This is best illustrated by the records he made under his own name in small combos with Teddy Wilson, winner of Esquire's 1945 Gold Award in the piano section, and Lionel Hampton.) Nevertheless, this does not alter the fact that the Benny Goodman band has never really compared with the Duke's for pure jazz expression. We say this with the full recognition that such jazz greats as trombonist Jack Teagarden, trumpeters Ziggy Elman and Bunny Berigan (our favourite), pianists Jess Stacy and Teddy Wilson, and drummers Dave Tough and Gene Krupa have at varying times performed with the Goodman aggregation.

These men, however, seldom stayed with Benny for any appreciable length of time. In the Duke's case, it has been exactly the opposite. He has been fortunate in being able to hold his men with him for long periods of time. Some of his men, like the fine baritone sax man Harry Carney and drummer Sonny Greer, have been with him virtually since he first organized his orchestra.

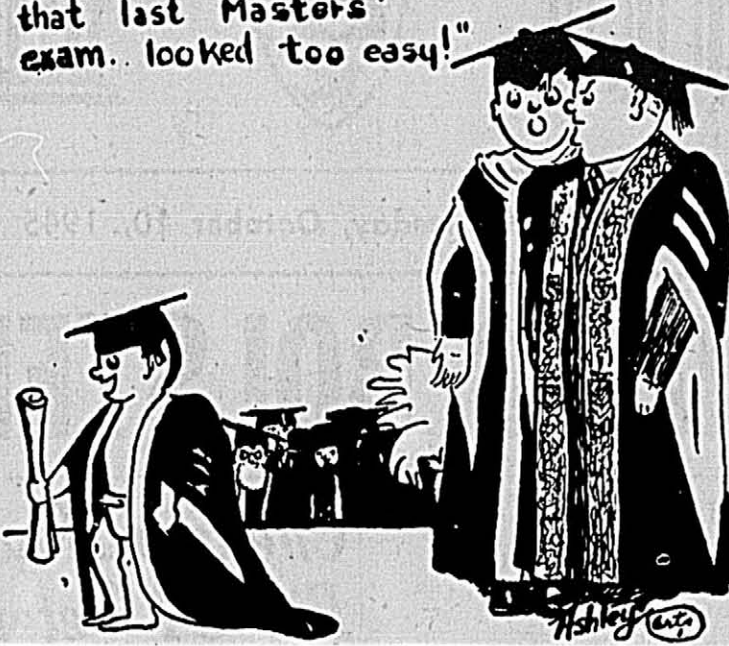

Also, men like Johnny Hodges, Gold award winner for Esquire in the alto sax division, have been with him almost as long. Johnny, whose sonorous and melodic improvisations mark him as the greatest alto player yet produced by jazz. Those of you who doubt this statement will want to listen to his Passion Flower for Duke Ellington, or his Sunnyside of the Street with Lionel Hampton. (Both on Victor Records.) You will not fail to recognize both his stupendous technique and versatility on his alto, which cannot be approached by any other alto man to-day. You will hear the fullness of tone, the depth of feeling which he puts into his playing, his rich, original phrasing, full of the unexpected, but shunning the spectacular, that makes him unique in jazz.

We could go on writing about this phenomena of jazz for hours, but what we have been trying to say is just this. While you still have the opportunity, don't miss hearing this unique musical aggregation. It can be done so easily and economically by merely listening over the radio. We sincerely hope that the ABC will place this extremely acceptable innovation upon a permanent basis, so that more people will be able to listen to and understand jazz music, and to learn what jazz is, and what it is trying to do.

printed unless they contain "obscene, libellous or treasonable" material.

During past years many a heated discussion has been carried on through the medium of the "Political Comment" column. Now, with McGill beginning the first post-war session, there is surely many a problem which occupies the students' minds. We also feel, that some of the veterans who have returned to college will have some interesting suggestions to make for post-war reconstruction. The column is yours... let the campus know what you think.

"Cavalcade of Stars"

The Notre Dame de Grace Branch (Que. No. 106) Can. Legion B.E.S.L. announces their forthcoming production: "The Cavalcade of Stars" featuring the galaxy of stars of stage, screen and radio—to be held here at the Montreal Forum the night of October 19th, 1945.

Head lining the "Cavalcade of Stars" will be Ed. Sullivan, world famous columnist of the New York Daily News. Mr. Sullivan, more popularly known as "Mr. Madison Square Garden," is the author of Little Old New York, a column read by more than ten million people daily. He is known throughout the United States for his handling of the greatest names in American entertainment. The ever popular Miriam Hopkins, known by millions of Canadian and American movie goers for her beauty, grace and charm, has signified her willingness to appear in this Legion sponsored Victory show.

Miss Hopkins was born in Bainbridge, Georgia. Her early schooling finished, Miss Hopkins showed early inclination for the stage and screen. At Syracuse University her interest shifted to dramatics and her constant efforts rewarded her position in the field of entertainment. Miss Hopkins has been seen in many movies, among them "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," "Woman Chases Man" and "The Old Maid," in which she co-starred with Miss Bette Davis in one of the year's finest pictures.

Miss Hopkins is at the present time commencing a play in New York and will come here to Montreal to personally study the French Canadian habits and language around which her present play is based.

The RKO starlet, Ellen Drew, is flying from New York to take part in the event. Ellen Drew is soon to be seen in China Sky and her appearance here in Montreal will give the people of this city a chance to see one of the upcoming of Hollywood's young stars. The services of Bess Myerson, "Miss America of 1945," have been obtained. Miss Myerson, in addition to being named the most beautiful girl in America, is an accomplished musician.

Heard from coast to coast on the Hit Parade every Saturday night Dick Todd is coming home to Montreal—his home town—to take part in this. Patricia Arden, another rising star in the field of music, will be on hand. Pat, as she is more widely known, is another Montreal girl who is fast becoming one of the top vocalists of the nation. Sullivan, Miriam Hopkins, Ellen Drew, Dick Todd, Miss America 1945, Patricia Arden, Bill Bailey, three Harvestmoon Ball Jitterbug teams, Laurence Troy and the music of Al McIvor. WAR COUNCIL?

The Editor, The McGill Daily,
Dear Sir,—What has happened to the War Council? As a student during the early war years, and until 1943, I am amazed and bemused at the utter lack of either appearance or even mention of this body, which was one of the few real signs of progress to appear upon the campus during the war years. During the war, the Freshman activities were highlighted by a giant salvage drive sponsored and organized by the War Council, which netted annually many tons of scrap. True, this commodity is no longer needed, but, as Mr. Cunningham pointed out yesterday, there is another need, no less great than any for which students spent their then much more precious time: clothes, discards, salvage too if you like, are desperately needed in Europe at the present time. Moreover, they are needed to keep our allies alive, not merely to kill our enemies.

What is wrong with the McGill spirit and with the ruling student powers at the present time? The results would be invaluable if the student body took an active part in this campaign; and as a long-time member of the old War Council executive group, I know and can assure the student body that the effort would not involve a disproportionate amount of work.

Now let's wake up to the fact that the war emergency is not yet over.

P. R. C. R. TALL.

CONSTITUTION PLEASE

Monday, Oct. 9, 1945.

To the Editor:
Dear Sir,—Yesterday you published the first financial statement of the Student's Executive Council with a promise of further financial reports in subsequent issues. That is a good beginning.

But how much more fitting would it be if you published the Constitution of the Student Society? To grasp the details of the financial report, to understand the principles of student democracy on the campus, one must have a knowledge of the Constitution.

With the great influx of students to McGill I am sure the publication of the Constitution of the Student Society will be of inestimable benefit to all, and I sincerely hope that you may find space for this in the very near future.

Sincerely,
RALPH A. COHEN.

Across Country

There is a phase of the Feature Page which hardly ever is stressed as it is almost completely the job of the Feature Editor. Apart from acting as a medium of expression for the student body on this campus the page gives a smattering of trends in other universities across the country. This is done by reprinting articles, prose and poetry from the publications of these universities. Here is an example of such a clipping—from The Sheaf.

The hollow footsteps walking up and down,

Pulled by invisible strings from the booklet of an unknown publishing house.

McGill Intercollegiate Gridders Hold Scrimmage Today

Potential Senior Squad, Two Teams for QRFU Chosen by Coach Kerr

Farlinger and Greenberg Back To Strengthen Team's Backfield

By HERB SHAYNE

In theatrical parlance, Producer Doug Kerr sends what will likely be the 1945 edition of his Red and White grid squad through its first full dress rehearsal when 31 of the more promising candidates go into heavy scrimmage tonight at Molson Stadium.

At a heavily attended talk session held in the upper part of the Molson Stadium club-house, the McGill mentor gave out the full list of those who are to dress for to-night's session. With all those participating split into two teams, Reds and Blues, the Coach very emphatically pointed out that the list was far from final although the players named last night would be the probable starters for next Tuesday's game against the Hornets.

The Eisenhower of the McGill board of gridiron strategy said that there are at present fourteen players in the locker room for Senior rugbyists. Twelve more are due to change their clothes in the same spot. However, an all-important qualifying "but" was added.

"You guys are or will be in there because I think you're intercollegiate material," said Herr Kerr. "But if anyone of you is just a game player and lies down in practice,

(McGill Daily—B. Sablotz)

JOHNNY HALL

I'll admit my mistake and bounce you out of there so fast you won't even know you've been on the team."

The Coach has an ample stock of good players on hand so that his words are not just idle threats. Frase Farlinger and Dave Greenberg have been o.k.'ed by the medics and look to be in good enough shape for starting positions on any intercollegiate team in the loop. Besides these two backfielders, Sleepy Telford top-notch lineman of past McGill teams looks as if he will also be in for a regular assignment.

With the most polished of the hundred odd candidates who started practices two weeks ago finally weeded out, Kerr has picked two extremely powerful aggregations either of which could trim any of the squads seen here during the war years.

On the Reds who hope to make the Blues feel extremely blue in the hours after sunset to-night, Kerr has Hall, Smith, Hayes, Porter and Stronach in the backfield, with Mann, Pennyfather, Townsend, Heron, Little, Summerskill and Keith Scobie on the line. As subs, the Reds will have Bridle, Telford and Frase Farlinger.

The Blues can counter this outfit with Finlay, Norsworthy, Ballon, Futterer and Don Scobie back of the line and Beatty, Huza, Samuels, Barclay, Robinson, Smythe and Hewgill holding down the seven line spots.

From advance appearance, the Reds seem to have the better of the two outfits but anyone selling the Blues short before the workout might be classed as a little hasty in their decisions.

Stu Smith, line coach of the Red-men, indicated that the game will be stopped frequently for instructions so that the players will get the most out of the hour session.

Besides the intercollegiate team, Kerr will have two Q.R.F.U. squads under the direction of Bennett and Smith as feeder outfits for the "big" team. Smith has settled on Wildcats as the cognomen for his outfit while Bennett retains his Tigers from last year.

Habs Play It Rough In Early Workouts

Les Canadiens were permitted by a better sheet of ice yesterday to go through their first hard workout and Coach Dick Irwin seems satisfied that the boys are shaping up well.

Practice started with puck-passing warmups which was followed by a practice game. Working together as one unit was the stellar line of Elmer Lach, Toe Blake and Maurice Richard. Another string featured Kenny Mosdell flanked by Fern Gauthier and Murphy Chamberlain. Defencemen Glen Harmon, Frankie Edolls and Leo Lamoureux played on one team in front of Legs Fraser's net while the other cage was guarded by first line goalie Bill Durnan behind a defence consisting of Mike McMahon, Cliff Gouppille and Butch Stahan.

Joe Benoit, Billy Reay and Wilf Fields are still absent from practices but are expected to report in the near future to round out the group and allow the Habs to get down to some serious drills and play making. Their schedule in the N.H.L. starts on October 27th with a game against Chicago Black Hawks. By then they expect to have had at least two exhibition games behind them, one of which will be in Ottawa.

McGill Pucksters Plan Intercollegiate Schedule

By NORM WOLFE

As the icy winds and cold rains foretell the imminent approach of winter, the McGill Athletics Department is not wasting any time in laying plans and mapping strategy for the coming hockey season. Some 15 puck hopefuls attended the meeting held in the Union yesterday at which the Red and White ice program was outlined. The conclave was supervised by Dr. A. S. Lamb, Director of the Dept. of Physical Education, Major Stuart Forbes, Athletics Manager, and Dr. Bobby Bell, veteran coach and honorary president of the hockey club.

Although the "Doc" hasn't been officially reappointed mentor, his interest in the hockey setup is an indication that the popular dentist will probably be at the helm of the McGill puck entry again this season. The squad has plenty of promising and experienced material at hand, and the black-haired Bell is an accomplished builder of championship squads.

The first Red sextet will definitely compete in an intercollegiate league with Queen's and Toronto, and most likely Western. This squad is also trying to arrange exhibition games below the border with Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Dartmouth. Another possibility is that the senior squad will be entered in a league composed of teams from Sir George Williams College, Loyola, Cyclones, and maybe the University of Montreal.

The formation of an intermediate squad is also being planned. This team would play in a league with Macdonald, Bishops, and Loyola, or perhaps would perform in the junior Q.A.H.A.

All McGill senior games, intercollegiate, exhibition etc., will be played at the Forum on Friday nights, according to Frank Rogers, the hockey manager. The team will most likely practise every day from 12-2 p.m., and possibly Saturday afternoon to enable Dawson College men to work out with the squad.

As far as material is concerned, there appears to be an abundance of experienced and able players about, and hopes are high for the squad. Among those attending the meeting yesterday was Jack Gellinas, who starred in goals for the Air Force and Junior Canadiens last year, and who should be an excellent addition to the squad. Tony Dobell, last year's netminder, is also back at McGill, so the goal-keeping department should be well taken care of.

Top-Notchers Return

There are several top-notch rearguards at McGill, including Bob Brodrick, mainstay of last year's sextet. Other defencemen who have played at McGill before are Ken Jamieson, Dick Bird, Walt Mingle, and Snuffy Smith. Along with these lads are newcomers Doug Heron, Johnny Porter, and Tommy Bridel, all of whom have starred in local high school hockey and for service teams.

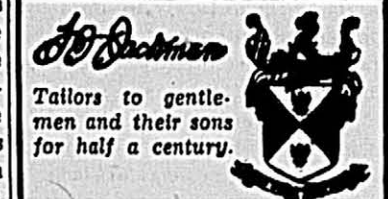

On the front wall McGill has back the Hale brothers, George and

Weightlifters Plan Intercollegiate Events

The first meeting of the Weightlifting Club will take place in the B.W. and F. Room of the Sir Arthur Currie Memorial Gymnasium this Friday, October 12, at 5.15 p.m. At this time, all men interested in weightlifting and body-building will be informed of the plans made by the executive for the coming season.

Tommy, Reg Sinclair, Murray Hayes, Johnny Costigan, Ernie Spiller, Bill Allen, Ward Pittfield, Grant Morrison, and a host of others. There are also several grade A players out at Dawson, including Danny Porteous, Jimmy O'Connor, and Joe Pettit, all of whom have gained recognition in local puck circles.

Among the unfamiliar faces at the meeting were Stuart Kerr, who played in the senior N.O.H.A. before going overseas five years ago, Bill Huston, who played with the R.C.A.F. team at Calgary, and Mac Beck from Mount Allison University.

Among other things, plans will be discussed for an intercollegiate weightlifting competition to be held during the year. Leading American Universities will be invited to enter, as well, of course, as the major Canadian colleges. A team will be selected from the men attending the meeting, and training will commence next week.

For those interested in body-building, the club offers courses in barbell and dumbbell exercises, scientifically graded to meet individual capabilities, and under the experienced and able supervision of Coach Charlie Walker. Further information may be obtained from manager Marty Franklin.

Maritime College Expects Large Athletic Year

Intercollegiate Sports Revived on Large Scale At U. of New Brunswick

Fredericton, Oct. 10. — (CUP) — Holding her place among the important centres of sport, U.N.B. once again opened another year with all the prospects of an active year in athletic achievements. With the close of the war, restrictions on interscholastic play-offs have been lifted and once more our college can join others in the search for Maritime laurels.

Already a hard-hitting well balanced football team is taking shape as each evening they may be seen plunging around College Field, getting ready for a great year in rugby. This year more than ever the team looms up brightly as many stars are returning after service in the armed forces and many of last year's New Brunswick champs still remain.

A check-up by Physical Director and Coach Howie Ryan and A.A.A. president Neil Elgee, shows that not only football, but every other sport on the campus will benefit by the 400 or more new students who have registered "up the hill" this year. In Basketball U. N. B. will be out to repeat the preceding year's achievements of winning the Maritime and Canadian Intermediate Championships, and the return of a number of former college stars will help to a great extent.

It is too early to predict what boxing holds in store, but there will again be a large field to pick from and training will soon be underway.

Though there are many good players only too ready to turn out for Hockey, any plans for a successful year will be dampened again as in the past through lack of a rink. Last year a Campaign was introduced to raise funds for

Wet Weather Dampens Tennis Tournery Play

Adverse weather conditions brought play in the men's tennis tournament to a standstill yesterday giving the racket wielders time to rest for the important matches slated for this afternoon if the courts are sufficiently dry.

Weekend play considerably narrowed the field of contestants giving manager Johnny Wight a better idea of possibilities for his team. This team will represent the Red and White at the Intercollegiate tennis tournament scheduled for October 22nd.

Weather permitting the following matches will be played today:

3 p.m.
Ramsay vs. Leopold.
Villeneuve vs. MacFarlane.
4 p.m.
D.M. Stairs vs. Kzaas.
Duff vs. Cln Lee.
Hyndman vs. Marion.

Ex-Servicemen Form Large Bulk Of Red Gridders

All Services, Ranks To Be Represented In To-day's Contest

Should anyone suggest a new crest in place of the martlets and the open book now displayed on McGill's rugby uniforms, the powers that be could hardly do worse than use the General Service pin as a new design. A quick glance at statistics (generally a quick glance is all that is needed) shows 23 of the 31 top gridders playing on either Reds or Blues today as veterans of the armed forces after various lengths of service.

The sea and football seem to hold much of the same lure for hardy souls with 12 of those roaming the chalked field known as Molson Stadium veterans of the Navy. Eight spent varying lengths of time in the Air Force while three are in the khaki of the Army.

Hayes, Norsworthy
Taking the lads in no particular order, Murray Hayes, speedy half-liner, was a Tar stationed at H.M.C.S. Donnacona and was also sports officer at Quebec City. Hugh Norsworthy, hefty backfielder and erstwhile star of the '39 Frosh team has chalked up an enviable Service record, winding up as a Squadron Leader in the R.C.A.F., holder of the D.F.C., and veteran of two tours of operations.

E. Smith who'll be holding down the right half slot for the Red team today spent ten months as a P.O.W. Big Ian Barclay held a Lieutenant's commission in the Navy and like Hayes was a sports officer, taking over at Donnacona.

Bill Stromach, quarterback of the 1939 team, spent a good chunk

Macdonald Holds Track Competition

Victors to Compete With Dawson, McGill In Intramural Meet

The latest news on the track situation here is word of a meet to be held at Macdonald College Friday afternoon when a number of hopefuls under the direction of Manager Coach Orville Privett will compete in the various events scheduled for the meet. The winners of these events will be on hand here together with the Dawson College team on Friday, October 13, when the first intramural track meet will be run off. Track coach Van Wagner has high hopes for the boys from Macdonald and Dawson, and expects to bolster his intercollegiate squad with men from these teams.

In the meantime, field sports at Dawson will be under way shortly, as Coach Em Orlick is due to take up residence there today. As far as McGill track news is concerned, Manager Bill Reid reports that the bad weather has caused a decrease in the number of men turning out, and that if a strong team is to be entered in the intercollegiate meet, more good men will be needed.

This man has thousands of Air Force counterparts. Alert, capable, they are coming home with a matchless background of achievement, keen to gear their many specialized qualifications to the wheels of civilian industry. Pilots, air gunners, navigators, groundcrew men, all have precise technical knowledge in many fields readily adaptable to peacetime needs. They have thrived on responsibility; proved their ability to think and act in split-second emergency. For in the air they've been on their own.

Employers across Canada need men like these:

Further plans are in the offing to distribute pins indicating membership in the Society provided such pins, which are to be red and white in color and design, with red and white ribbons streaming.

The cards, to be filled in and handed back to representatives of the Society, will ask for the name, address (city and home), faculty, year, previous experience and extracurricular activities.

possible to adjust the mirror so as to obtain a clear focus on the portion undergoing operation. Photographs are taken at intervals to show the important steps of the operation.

In an interview, Mr. Hayden stressed the value of medical photography. Not only does it permit the surgeon to examine the affected part after the incision has been closed, but the photographs also serve as a guide to medical students learning surgery, he said. In addition, these pictures form an integral part of the case histories of the patients. Experts have acclaimed the Department of Medical Photography in the Montreal Neurological Institute as the best in Canada, and "it certainly holds its own with any in the United States," according to Mr. Hayden.

Peter Hayden, whose ingenuity made the development of this important field possible, is well known in medical and photographic circles, as he has lectured to several societies both in Canada and the U.S., and has had many articles published in current magazines. Some of his photographs have been shown in the exhibitions of the Royal Photographic Society. He intends to start his private practice in the near future.

Swimming, Ping Pong and Badminton will all be carried on as in the past with even more zest and vigour, and competition among the students in these sports will continue to grow keener.

1945-46 will see new names in each sport and old names forgotten. But as in the past we must all strive to uphold the name of sport in our college. To make those who have left us proud of what we are doing and so that we in the future may be proud of what we have done. To make this year a success will require the co-operation of every student in putting what ever energy he or she is capable of into one or more of the fields of sport.

Dr. Butler thinks that the answer to Britain's swing to the left is to be found in tracing the political history of Great Britain since the Magna Charta from absolutist rule of the king to the British Commonwealth of Nations, established in 1931. "The next step was recorded in the recent parliamentary elections."

He interprets the recent elections as meaning the decline and possible disappearance of the large landowners and the setting up of a political system similar to that of the United States. He sees no possibility of Britain going communist.

that there is little likelihood of an ultimate mixed race of one color.

"People have still not learned to live together. Technological advances have brought citizens of various countries in contact with one another, but have not given them the know-how of getting along with each other.

"The millennium will not result in sameness; the varying geographical factors prevent this, but will rather be the attainment of harmony through the growth of reason and understanding," declared Dr. Fleure.

When he was a student, there were no courses in geography being given at all in universities, said Dr. Fleure. At University College of Wales, Aberystwyth, he studied geology and biology, and did post-graduate work at the University of Zurich, chiefly in biology and anthropology. Since that time, he has held teaching positions at some of Britain's most distinguished universities.

In 1935 he was awarded the Huxley Memorial Lectureship and Medal of the Royal Anthropological Institute of London, and the following year made a Fellow of the Royal Society. In 1944 he was chairman of the National Committee for Geography in Great Britain. In the summer of last year, Dr. Fleure retired as professor of geography at Manchester University, and since then, has spent considerable time in the United States visiting Bowdoin College, Maine, as well as Clark University, John Hopkins, and the University of California.

PLATFORM PICTURES

Candidates for the three Dawson College group positions are requested to leave pictures (approximately 3 x 4) of themselves in the Daily office at Dawson between 7 and 8 p.m. today.

Those who have no such picture available should notify the Daily at this time so that arrangements may be made to have one taken.

efficient in number is satisfy the requirements of the campus. Also measures should be taken to eliminate all undue noise and other disturbances.

3) Library Facilities. In addition to the general library being set up, I would suggest to the University authorities that a technical reference library be included so that students may obtain a better understanding of the various professional fields that may interest them.

HOUSING
1) Lounge Facilities. All students require Common Rooms in which they can relax and entertain their friends. As far as possible these should be equipped with comfortable furniture, games, card-tables, radio, etc.

2) Campus Housing and Messing Committee. This committee should be set up immediately to assist the University authorities in providing lounge facilities as described above. One of the main functions of this committee would also be to assist and advise the University authorities on messing problems. I would welcome the active participation of the wives of the married students in the activities of this committee.

In general the committee would concern itself with all housing and messing problems.

4) Canteen. A canteen should be set up immediately which would act as a bookshop and book exchange, with a stationary department, a snack bar, and a shop where all sundry articles necessary to daily existence could be purchased.

The profits accrued from such a venture should be used to improve the living conditions of the students of Dawson College. This could also provide part-time employment for a number of students.

To administer the affairs of the canteen a student committee should be set up.

RECREATION
The very nature of Dawson College necessitates a thorough planning of extra-mural activities in the athletic, social, and cultural fields.

(a) Athletics. Athletic equipment should be immediately made available both from that equipment taken over from the R.C.A.F. and from the University athletic stores.

(b) An athletic committee should be organized to work with the athletic instructor in instituting inter-class and inter-campus competition in all fields of sports.

(c) In general, all the athletic facilities which would normally be available to McGill students should be available to Dawson College.

2) Social and Cultural Activities. (a) A Social and Cultural Committee should be organized to arrange for periodic dances, social functions, both intercampus and local.

(b) A Film Committee should be formed to function in cooperation with the McGill Film Society and other organizations to plan for the showing of education and entertainment films at regular intervals.

(c) Group activities such as Glee Club, Chess Club, Bridge Club, etc., should be encouraged.

(d) The formation of other student clubs interested in public affairs, science, religion, etc., should also be encouraged.

HEALTH SERVICE

All the benefits provided by the Student Health Service should be immediately made available. In particular, special conditions at Dawson College require:

1) A resident physician.
2) A resident nurse for the children of married students.
3) An isolation ward for contagious diseases.

TRANSPORTATION

A transportation committee should be set up to organize a cheap and regular bus service for week-end travel to Montreal. This committee should also work with the existing commuters' committee on commuters' problems.

Inasmuch as each student at Dawson has paid a fee for student activities on McGill campus (as detailed in the Handbook of McGill University, 1945-46, page 16), and inasmuch as Dawson students are removed from the main campus, and therefore require facilities parallel to those provided on McGill campus, I would suggest that a proportionate per capita amount of this student activity fee be allocated to the Dawson Campus.

Dawson College is an important post-war project. The success of this project depends in great measure upon the degree to which university students of varying backgrounds and experience can live and work together. To a great extent the future of each of us depends upon this fact. Let us then apply ourselves to this end.

ation with Mr. Orlick, the director of athletic activities at our college.

At present the arrangements for social activities in the college are limited. Organizing social functions necessitates a great deal of time and work. A convener and committee should be elected to undertake this task. It would be the duty of this group to enquire into the operating of the theatre in our recreation hall, and to the possibilities of having a dance in the near future.

These are a few of the current problems which demand our immediate attention. There are other extra-curricular activities which have not been mentioned in this programme. To meet and deal with these questions requires the close co-operation and assistance of every student of this college. All suggestions and criticisms will be welcomed, and I will endeavour to serve the interests of the student body to the best of my ability.

is up to the students—it is up to the elected men to obtain them.

A pressing need which we must have immediately is a canteen. The nature of that canteen will be decided by the university. We must have tables and chairs in the dormitories because cots are not ideal for writing, etc. We should have a movie at least twice a week and at least one social event every five weeks with imported girls. There is enough talent here for variety shows and so on.

I could go on to Gentlemen but the rest is up to you. You must elect the men suited to accomplish these things. As for myself I can only say that I will endeavour, if elected, to do everything humanly possible to advance the welfare of Dawson College.

helping the pre-engineering students run their affairs. While I think the year was to a certain degree successful, I attribute the success entirely to the help I received from others. Again, this year, I know that who ever receives the honours of being president of first year engineering will not go without help and co-operation from others.

As it stands now, we have yet to organize student societies, athletics, social events and so on. What I have to offer is all I have. Dawson College students are entitled to a successful year. I think that with proper organization they will have it.

to look after the interest and the running of the various buildings. There will be many problems arise which can be settled by such committees.

"First Year Science is a preliminary year for most of us, therefore we must devote some of our time to thoughts of future studies. With this in mind, I think that there should be a technical library established where we can obtain books and the latest periodicals pertaining to our ultimate careers.

"In concluding, I would like to outline my program again:

1. Self-government at Dawson.
2. Representation on the McGill Students' Council.

3. Organization of Committees to look after canteen, sports, theatre, library, etc.

4. Formation of House Committees to look after the interests of the residents and to run each building.

5. Establishing a technical library.

If I am elected, I promise to try to put these into effect, with your help."

by the University of any plans which will affect them, thus enabling them to better plan their university careers.

3. Provision should be made to accommodate all engineering students, presently at Dawson College, on the McGill Campus next year.

4. A sports and recreation program involving every student who so desires should be organized, as this is very important here at Dawson College. Inter-campus dances; films; Glee Club; Science Club, etc., should be arranged.

As a proposal of immediate concern to engineering students I would recommend that the annual banquet held by these students, should be held at the Dawson College Campus, as a means of having engineering students, seniors and juniors, meet each other.

5. An Engineering Library should be set up so that first year Engineers can get an early and easy access to engineering literature.

6. An adequate health service, as provided by the Student Health Service, and including a resident physician and nurse, should be immediately available.

7. An efficient system of tutorials should be maintained. These tutorials are needed by most students, particularly veterans whose studies were interrupted by the war.

8. No differences should be created between veteran and civilian students. The war is over and we are all students pursuing our education together.

To conclude with what perhaps should have been said first, I feel that all students should participate in dealing with the problems facing them. No decisions should be handed down, but rather should be arrived at because the majority of students have decided that such a decision is in their best interest. Toward this end I believe that as many students as possible should be active in Student Government as members of committees, delegations, etc.

If I am elected I shall endeavour to be a wise counsellor to, and a good servant of First Year Engineering.

Edward de Jean, Eng. I.

in dispensing this information to a large group rather than to individuals. Library tours, which are a usual feature of the course, have had to be dispensed with this year because of crowded conditions. Library officials recommend this lecture as being especially useful to Second-year students as they are required to use the Library collection a great deal more than are Freshman students. It is also recommended, however, to anyone who is at all puzzled as to how the Library operates.

MCGILL VOLUNTARY SERVICES FOR WOMEN

Registration for Community Service is being extended until Oct. 12, owing to the fact that a large number of volunteers is still needed.

The Royal Victoria Hospital has sent a request for 80 girls to help as canteen workers and nurses' aides. Any student interested in doing this type of work is urged to register with the Voluntary Services immediately.

Although registration in the Hospital Handicrafts course is limited, there is still room for a few more girls in both the weaving and the leatherwork classes. Lectures in these crafts will begin next week, and anyone wishing to take the Handicrafts should sign up immediately. Students are reminded that they must pay a fee of $5 for admission to the two crafts.

The course in Girl Guide Leadership is scheduled to begin shortly. As yet, only a few girls have registered for this branch of work, and it is hoped that several more girls will register for it.

The Women's Union Office is open every day from noon to 2 p.m., and the women students on the campus are urged to sign up for Community Service.

POEM

(With Apologies to Masfield)

I must return to the hill again, to the college on its crest,
And all I ask is a friendly car to give my feet a rest;
A Tuck Shop (and a charge account), a room with an easy chair,
And an alibi for skipping when I haven't a spare.

I must return to the hill again, for the chime of the tower clock
Is a warning to the laggards that the prof. awaits his flock.
And all I ask is a back seat, some scandal to tell a friend,
And a sweet sleep to engulf me, till the lecture's at an end.

—The Brunswicks.

William M. Everts, the distinguished lawyer and statesman, was once riding on a Pullman car with a friend. When bedtime came the latter, who had always found it difficult sleep on trains, remarked:

"Mr. Everts, to sleep well, do you think it is best to lie on the right or left side?"

"If you are on the right side, my friend," said the brilliant lawyer, "it usually isn't necessary to lie at all."

PUPPY LOVE

Some time ago science dealt me a body blow, and I still haven't recovered.

The thing happened in the dear dead days when I worked nights on a newspaper. This particular morning, we were waiting eagerly for news of a Japanese surrender, and it was a tense little group that gathered around the teletypes. A machine began ticking . . .

"Dr. Algeron Bloot, of the Whiffletree Institute, said today that it is detrimental for twelve-year-old boys to associate with girls of the same age."

The news nearly knocked me off the gold standard. I clutched at the machine and read on. The reason, it seemed, was in the fact that boys of twelve are not interested sexually in girls, (odd animals, these twelve-year-olds) whereas girls, at twelve, are sexually interested in boys.

The possibilities of such a situation are endless, and all of them tend to be rather rough on both boys and girls. Imagine every
